

Joseph Graskemper, DDS, JD, FCLM was the previous sole owner of a free-for-service multi-specialty group practice in La Jolla, California, and was the president of Dentcom Advertising. While in California, he was the owner of Sorrento Valley Ceramic Arts, a full-service dental lab.

He is currently practicing in Bellport, New York. He has been awarded fellowships from the Academy of General Dentistry, American Endodontic Society, International Congress of Oral Implantologists, American Society of Osseointegration and the American College of Legal Medicine, and has a law degree.

Besides practicing dentistry full time, he also provides practice management consulting, provides expert witness testimony, and is a clinical associate professor at Stonybrook School of Dental Medicine in the General Practice Residency Program.

He also currently teaches dental law, risk management, ethics and professionalism at all levels at Stonybrook School of Dental Medicine. He also teaches practice management at the post-graduate level and is editor-in-chief of the Stonybrook School of Dental Medicine GPR Literature Review Journal. He belongs to many professional organizations, has served as a consultant to several state dental boards, and has lectured and has been published nationally on risk management.

He is very active in his community by being a past president of Patchogue Kiwanis Club, and currently chairman of the Board of Trustees of Maryhaven Center of Hope, a large Long Island-wide agency serving the mentally and physically handicapped.