

Arnold J. Rosoff, JD, FCLM

A member of the Penn faculty since 1968, Arnold Rosoff is professor of Legal Studies and Health Care Systems at The Wharton School and a senior fellow of Penn's Leonard Davis Institute of Health Economics. Since 2004, he has been a faculty member in the Penn Medical School's Graduate (MPH) Program in Public Health Studies. Professor Rosoff teaches, researches and publishes in the area of health law and policy. He is deputy editor of the Journal of Legal Medicine and a fellow of the American College of Legal Medicine.

Professor Rosoff received his BS in economics from Penn and his law degree from Columbia University. He clerked for the Third Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals and practiced law with the firm of Wolf, Block, Schorr & Solis-Cohen in Philadelphia before joining the Wharton faculty.

At various times in his career, Professor Rosoff has served as senior health law advisor to the Health Care Financing Administration (DHEW) and has been a visiting faculty member at the Harvard School of Public Health, Keio University Medical School in Tokyo, INSEAD in France, and Singapore Management University. He has also been a guest scholar at The Brookings Institution and a Scholar-in-Residence at the Institute of Medicine.