

Dale H. Cowan, MD, JD, FACP, FCLM, is past director of the Department of Regional Oncology at the Cleveland Clinic Cancer Center. He is board certified in hematology and medical oncology and is a fellow of the American College of Physicians and the American College of Legal Medicine. Dr. Cowan is a graduate of Harvard College, Harvard Medical School and the Law School of Case Western Reserve University.

Dr. Cowan trained at MetroHealth Medical Center in Cleveland, Ohio and at the National Institutes of Health. He served on the faculty of medicine at Case Western Reserve University for 12 years before entering private practice.

Dr. Cowan has lectured and written in diverse areas of medicine and law. His topics include ethical issues and the conduct of clinical trials in cancer, medical staff credentialing and bylaws, physician contracting with hospitals and alternative health care delivery systems, and the care of the terminally ill patient. He is author of a monograph on preferred provider organizations and co-editor of a symposium on human organ transplantation.

Dr. Cowan is a recipient of the David J. Greenburg Service Award, fellow, and former member of the Board of Director of the American Health Lawyers Association. He presently serves on the Board of Governors and is president-elect of the Board of the American College of Legal Medicine and is a Member of the editorial board of the Journal of Legal Medicine. He is listed in Who's Who in America, Who's Who in the World, Who's Who in Medicine and Healthcare, and Who's Who in American Law.