

Robert Meals, JD is a 1964 graduate of Holy Cross College and a cum laude graduate of the University of Pennsylvania Law School in 1972, where he was a member of the law review. He is a member of the bar in Washington, California, Nevada, Georgia, Florida and the U.S. Supreme Court.

Mr. Meals practices healthcare law and represents physicians and other healthcare providers in a wide range of professional settings, including peer review, credentialing, contracting, licensing, professional liability, antitrust and disciplinary matters. He has written and lectured extensively on the procedural problems with and economic implications of medical peer review. He is a member of the American Bar Association's Health Law Section, the American Health Lawyers Association and the American College of Legal Medicine. His office is on Whidbey Island, an hour northwest of downtown Seattle, Washington.